Toxics Release Inventory (TRI)

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

The Toxics Release Inventory (TRI), the Emergency Planning and Community Right to Know (EPCRA) Act of the United States Environmental Protection Agency currently contains 175 toxic chemicals that can cause environmental pollution.

Based on HAHN's current level of knowledge about our internal business processes and the chemicals used, HAHN products do not require any TRI requirements in accordance with the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRA).

Nevertheless, HAHN does not control or know the end uses or specific applications of our products by our customers. HAHN therefore cannot guarantee the actual exposure to chemicals in accordance with the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRA).

For more information on Toxics Release Inventory (TRI), visit the following website:
